Sandymoor Court - Case Study

xsign worked with Livv Housing Group to manufacture and install the external and internal signage package for Sandymoor Court in Runcorn. The development provides high-quality homes and modern communal facilities, designed to create a safe, welcoming, and visually engaging environment for residents.

The external scheme includes illuminated entrance signage and robust exterior directories, offering clear navigation and a strong first impression. Internally, we delivered a full suite of signage solutions — from apartment door signs and general door plaques to statutory safety signage, wayfinding directories, and glazing manifestations.

Working alongside the project team, xsign produced a cohesive signage package that combines functionality with visual identity, ensuring clarity of wayfinding while reflecting the character and branding of Livv Housing Group.

Located throughout the building frosted acrylic panels provide key wayfinding at decision points. The directories list apartments, stair cores, and amenities, supported by playful graphic elements such as bees, butterflies, and floral motifs, reflecting Sandymoor Court's character.

Functional spaces such as bin stores, staff areas, and cleaner's cupboards are clearly marked with frosted acrylic door signs. The designs incorporate the same brand-led colour palette and subtle nature graphics, giving even the most practical signs a touch of personality.

Inside the circulation spaces, 3mm matt Lucite panels in brand colours (Reflex Blue, Orange, Light Blue) provide bold and simple level indicators. These lightweight yet durable signs ensure residents and visitors can quickly orient themselves on every floor.
